

Taking the “A Line” Train from the Denver Airport to the Grand Hyatt.

At a cost of $10.50, you can use the A Line, aka Denver Airport Rail, to get from the airport to downtown Denver, and vice versa. You’ll be whisked to the heart of downtown, specifically Denver Union Station, in 37 minutes. From there, it’s a short shuttle ride to the Grand Hyatt Denver, at 1750 Welton St.

What to do – At the Airport

- After exiting the concourse shuttle train, go up an escalator. From this level, you can retrieve checked bags and catch the Train to the City.
- Look for and follow signs for “Train to City,” “Transit Center” or “Westin Hotel.”
- Exit the terminal building and take the escalator down to the Transit Center. It’s a long escalator – and there are elevators nearby if you prefer.
- Ticket machines are to the right of the escalator at the bottom. Purchase your ticket. The cost for a 24-hour pass is $10.50 ($5.25 for seniors).
 - Tip 1: Download the RTD app to your phone to purchase tickets ahead of time and check schedules.
 - Tip 2: If you purchase a ticket from a vending machine, you may be asked to wait for the “green light” after inserting your credit card. The light is located just above the credit card slot, so it is not obvious. If you get an “unreadable card” error, try it again and look for the green light. No prompt to remove your card is provided on the screen, so the error may just be a timeout.
- Lighted signage toward the trains shows which track (1 or 2) the next train will leave from and the amount of time until it departs. Trains run every 15 minutes during peak airport hours; after 6 p.m., they run every 30 minutes.

What to do – At Union Station

- It’s about a 40-minute ride to Union Station, where you will exit the train. Union Station will be right in front of you. You have two choices to get to the Grand Hyatt Denver:
 - 1) take the free 16th Street Mall Shuttle to get within a block of the Grand Hyatt Denver hotel, or
 - 2) take a cab or ride share.

- 16th Street Mall Shuttle: To take the free shuttle, walk around the right side of Union Station to Wynkoop St. and head to the right to the next intersection, which is the 16th Street Mall. Cross 16th St. and you will see a sign for the free 16th Street Mall Shuttle. You can catch the shuttle here (at the corner of Wynkoop & 16th Sts.). The shuttle stops at every intersection. Take the shuttle to Welton St., which is about 10 blocks. Exit and cross over 16th Street. The Grand Hyatt Hotel is one more block on the right side of Welton St., located between 17th & 18th Sts. (See red star in maps below.)
 - Note: Due to construction, the mall shuttle detours to 17th St. but returns to 16th St. before reaching Welton St.
- Cab or Ride-Share: To find a cab or arrange for a ride share pick up, walk through or around Union Station to Wynkoop St. A cab or ride share to the Grand Hyatt Denver should cost less than $20.
- Find more details on catching the “A Line” at <https://www.rtd-denver.com/services/airport>.

